

Warm greetings from Indonesia.

Thank you for sending me the English and Indonesian versions of keynote paper regarding theme of Kirchentag.

This is a very interesting discussion in accordance with the growing international situation related to humanitarian issues. We see from several writings in this paper how the Church in Germany faces migration problems. Some notes from us respond to this:

- This situation shows the difficulties of life in different countries. So that one of its effects is the migration.
- This situation urgently need of international policies and international networking to create peace.
- Intercultural understanding becomes an important medium in a foundation of human relationships. But the fact that a lot of people who come to Germany only have low education and competence (difficult situation to make understand).
- Communication: the clients have many languages to be translated into the common language of Germany otherwise some may not be served as intended to be.

I am very grateful for the opportunity you gave, because I will get new experiences through this conference.

As a church that has experienced serving refugees and to this day we still do it. So we need to continue learning to express the responsibilities of the church.

I also send you about our experiences while serving refugees. Hopefully this will be part of our discussion to share experiences. We pray that the conference plan will go well. See you soon at the Kirchentag. God bless.

Regards
Rev. Agustinus
